1	NILGA	Devolution within Northern Ireland – Consultation for Member Councils 31 July 2018 – 30 September 2018	28 September 2018
NILGA, the Northern Ireland Local Government Association, has commissioned and published the “Devolution within Northern Ireland”, report attached, as completed by the New Policy Institute. This evidence-based report, drawing on direct communication with all strands of government and wider society, together with policy & data benchmarking across all neighbouring jurisdictions, is provided to Council for corporate comment. It follows on from NILGA’s Programme for Local Government, developed in 2016, widely supported with the commitment that before 2020, NILGA would, in conjunction with Councils, develop an evidence base with costs to build cases to transfer a suite of powers and functions from Central Government, as determined by the current Local Government Act (NI). The purpose of this consultation is twofold: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • to inform existing and future legislative and resource actions to enhance the role of Councils in Northern Ireland • to take actions with partners in Government and more widely to strengthen the sustainability and value of local government in Northern Ireland. NILGA considers the corporate views of Causeway Coast and Glens Borough Council to be essential in the delivery of an ambitious yet practical step forward for local government in Northern Ireland. Councils work – their portfolio, performance and sphere of influence – have never been so necessary for and under scrutiny by residents, businesses, visitors and partners.

NILGA asks that Council responds corporately on the consultation which was been designed to enable follow up, individually and collectively, with both existing Councils and those that will emerge after 2 May 2019. At this stage NILGA would greatly appreciate:

- (a) Your comments on the NPI Report overall
- (b) Your comments regarding the potential for Local Government in NI, as per report pages 6 & 7
- (c) Your comments regarding devolving neighbourhood services to Councils in NI, as per report pages 13 & 14
- (d) Your comments regarding the 6 recommendations, as per Conclusion and Practical Next Steps, report pages 17 & 18
- (e) Your response to the illustrative Timeline, also provided

NILGA is seeking Council’s corporate response to this consultation by Friday 28 September 2018.

2	Northern Ireland Audit Office (NIAO)	The Code of Data Matching Practice of the Comptroller and Auditor General for Northern Ireland – Draft Consultaton	1 October 2018
In the course of audit work, the Comptroller and Auditor General (C&AG) and the Northern Ireland Audit Office (NIAO) may look at data that is held by different public bodies and compare these data sets to see if there are any trends or patterns that may indicate fraud and which need to be investigated. This is called data matching. Handling and managing data about individuals must be done securely and sensitively.
The NIAO have prepared this draft Code of Data Matching Practice, in accordance with Article 4G of the Audit and Accountability (Northern Ireland) Order 2003, to help ensure that the C&AG, the NIAO and its staff, auditors and all people and bodies involved in data matching exercises comply with the law, especially data protection legislation. The previous version of the Code, published in July 2008, has been updated for revisions to data protection legislation and for developments in data matching arrangements.

The C&AG is consulting all relevant audited bodies and other stakeholders, including the Information Commissioner, about this updated Code of Data Matching Practice

The National Fraud Initiative (NFI) is the main data matching exercise undertaken by the C&AG. While the NIAO welcome comments from all bodies and stakeholders, they recognise that the Code will be more relevant to those bodies that currently participate in NFI data matching exercises.

Comments on the draft Code should be submitted, preferably electronically, to nficoordinator@niauditoffice.gov.uk by 1st October 2018. In due course the NIAO will publish the final version of the Code on their website.

The draft Code is also available on the NIAO website using the following link:
